Open Josep Llusà

The Open bench is design, function and form which are integrated to provide a new multipurpose seating program with personality for contract spaces. Especially suitable for waiting rooms and large spaces (airports, etc.) is a completely modular and composable program.

Made from a solid painted steel structure based on two anodized aluminium profiles easy to assemble. You can choose between two types of feet: the foot rod epoxy lacquered or chrome and foot aluminium tube painted or polished. The seat and backrest can be in complete or upholstered in different fabrics or leather.

Among its main features are its great modularity can change the seats and tables together in an easy and fast. On the other hand, for its ingenious structure and design allows high-capacity benches (2 to 8 seats in a single bed and can connect the benches among themselves to give more capacity to the plant) without losing its design lines.

The accessories available: tables, which can be modulated in the space or afterwards, and the arms in painted or polished aluminium, interspersed in each side.
